

The schedule of required reserves in national currency for 2025 has been determined

At the extraordinary meeting of the Monetary Policy Committee of the National Bank of Tajikistan No. 42, held on May 28, 2025, a decision was adopted to establish the calendar of required reserves in national currency for 2025. This decision will contribute to creating the necessary conditions for the transition to the inflation targeting regime and to the effective management of the liquidity of financial and credit institutions.
